Millsaps - Wilson Library
Jackson, Ms: 39210

Millsaps V. Use
Jackson, Miss.

I cannot tell my story
without reaching a long way back.
If it were possible
I would reach back farther still—
into the very first years of my childhood, and beyond them
into distant ancestral past.

For this is my story.

It is the story of a man,
not of an invented,
or possible,
or idealized,
or otherwise absent figure,
but of a unique being
of flesh and blood.

Yet, what a real human being is made of
seems to be less understood today
than at any time before,
and men—
each of whom represents a unique and valuable experiment
on the part of nature—
are therefore
shot wholesale nowadays.

If we were not something more than unique human beings, if each one of us could really be done away with once and for all
by a single bullet,
storytelling would lose all purpose.

Each man is more than just himself.

He also represents the unique, the very special and always significant and remarkable point at which the world's phenomena intersect, only once in this way and never again.

That is why
every man's story is important,
eternal, sacred;
that is why every man,
as long as he lives
and fulfills the will of nature,
is wondrous,
and worthy of every consideration.
In each individual
the spirit has become flesh,
in each man
the creation suffers,
within each one a redeemer
is nailed to the cross.

Few people
nowadays
know
what man is.
Many sense this ignorance
and die the more easily because of it.

I do not consider myself
less ignorant than most people.
I have been
and still am
a seeker,
but I have ceased to question stars
and books.
I have begun to listen to the teachings
my blood
whispers
to me.

My story is not a pleasant one;
it is neither sweet nor harmonious,
as invented stories are;
it has the taste of nonsense and chaos,
of madness and dreams,
Like the lives of all men who stop deceiving themselves.

Each man's life represents a road toward himself,
an attempt at such a road,
the intimation of a patch.
No man has ever been entirely
and completely
himself.

Yet each one strives
to become that—
one in an awkward,
the other in a more intelligent way,
each as best he can.

Each man carries
the vestiges
of his birth—
the slime
and eggshells
of his primeval past—
with him
to the end of his days.

Some
never become
human,
remaining
frog,
lizard,
ant.
Some
are human
above the waist,
fish below.

Each represents
a gamble
on the part of nature
in creation of the human.
We all share the same origin,
our mothers;
all of us come in
at the same door.

But each of us—
experiments
of the depths—
strives toward his own destiny.

We can understand one another;
but each of us is able to interpret himself to himself alone.

THINGS GO BETTER WITH COKE

Compliments of
Jackson Coca-Cola Bottling Co.

It's an MP&L fact...

Mississippi Power Light actively supported ways to protect our environment long before the word "Ecology" became common.

Since the company was formed in 1923, efforts toward keeping generating plants, cooling lakes, local offices, vehicles, equipment, and rights-of-way clean have been emphasized by MP & L operations. MP & L backed the formation of and continues to support the "Keep Mississippi Beautiful" program. Through the years, MP&L has been an award winner in its work and cooperation with statewide programs to improve our environment.

Not willing to rest on past performances, MP&L is increasing its efforts to help maintain an environment which promotes beauty, growth, and development.

It's an MP&L fact . . . from MP&L you get more than electricity.
